

“As I look out over the water (of Kingswood Lake), I realize that Cranbrook is no longer just a school with beautiful surroundings, it is a part of me. The trees, the buildings, the lake, but most importantly the people, have become who I am.”

Robert Paul Brown,
Cranbrook Kingswood Class of 1989

“Cranbrook is one of the greatest campuses ever created anywhere.”

Paul Goldberger,
Architecture Critic - New York Times

“Unlike many of our prestigious universities, prone as they are to inexplicable lapses greatest campuses ever created anywhere.”

Kenneth Frampton
Architecture Critic - Architecture Magazine, 1999

“I like the campus. There is no where else that you could go to a school as beautiful as this one.”

11th Grade Day Student, Girl

“The simple act of showing up and walking the halls of those buildings imprints the notion that if you have a vision that vision can be realized...the very landscape of the place holds an unspoken promise for anyone willing to listen for it.”

Cranbrook Kingswood Alumnus, Class of 1987

“It’s physical beauty is extraordinary...I daydream about it still and every other school pales in comparison.”

Cranbrook Kingswood Alumnus, Class of 1980

“I chose Kingswood over some Eastern boarding schools because I was amazed at how beautiful the buildings and interiors were. And the surroundings were magnificent. The Eastern schools weren’t like that.”

Florence Schust Knoll Bassett, Kingswood ‘34
Architectural Designer and co-founder of Knoll furniture.

Bloomfield/ Birmingham Area

“The school is located in a safe and well-established area and has a great campus to live and study...my boy and I are satisfied with being members of Cranbrook. And we are grateful for its faculty and administrators for helping us as international student and parents”

Parent of an 11th
Grade Boarding
Student
